CAN IS TIED TO BIG BILL ABSTEIN.*Ham Hyatt to Cover First for the Pirates in Deciding Game at Detroit.*CLARKE IS AFTER KONECHY

Would Like to Land the Star First Baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals.
Both Managers Sure They Will Win
this Afternoon's Contest.

United Press Telegram.
PITTSBURG, Oct. 16.—Ralph S. Davis, sporting editor of the Pittsburg Press, in a special to that paper this morning says that "Bonehead" Bill Abstein has played his last game with the Pirates. Ham Hyatt, the crack pinch hitter, will cover the left field sack for the Pirates in the deciding game of the world's series at Detroit this afternoon.

Abstein's miserable failure in the present series is responsible for his undoing. When the team returns to Pittsburgh he will draw his check and during the winter Manager Fred Clarke will run a fine tooth comb through the big leagues and the minors in an effort to secure a good man to play first for the Pirates next season.

Clarke would like to land Konechey from the St. Louis Cardinals, but Manager Roger Bresnahan got so many knocks for letting Byrne go to the Pirates that he may not permit Konechey to go.

Fans here believe this is the time that Alvin Karpis could be used to great advantage and those who figured Clarke made a mistake in permitting the Harvard graduate to go to St. Louis with Barbaud in the trade for Byrne are wagging their heads and muttering "I told you so." Hyatt is a classy player in many respects but is too slow on his feet to be particularly valuable to the team.

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—The town is baseball mad today and the greatest crowd that ever attended a game in Detroit is expected to witness the final clash this afternoon between Pittsburg and Detroit. Crowds lined up early this morning to secure seats in the unreserved sections. Both managers express confidence of winning.

It is likely that Fred Clarke will use Babe Adams on the slab. Adams has twice humbled the Tigers and the fans look for him to repeat. Jennings will likely use "Wild Bill" Donovan, who has a victory over the Pirates to his credit. If Donovan does not show form it is not unlikely that George Mullin will be sent in to fill the breach. Mullin has pitched three cracking good games against the Pirates and won two of them. Jennings will hardly take a chance with any of his other pitchers, none of whom has shown exceptional class against the National leaguers.

The Detroit fans are encouraged over the report that Bill Abstein has been benched and will be succeeded by Hyatt. They claim that Pittsburg, by breaking up its infield, will be perceptibly weakened, and that the change will work to the benefit of the Tigers.

COOK FIGHTS HARD
AGAINST OFFICERS*Landed in Lockup, Put Up $10 Forfeit and Let It Stay as His Fine.

A battle royal between Charles Cook and two policemen took place yesterday afternoon with the consequence that Cook was landed in the bastille, but not until he had given Policemen John Lowe and Special Officer George Hietzel the hardest kind of a tussle. Cook developed unlooked for fighting qualities when the officers tackled him.

Both Cook and the policemen were bloodied up before the iron door clanged shut on Cell No. 6, but it was the blood of Cook. The only injury sustained by the minions of the law was a kick in the back that Cook gave John Lowe. Cook was later released on a $10 forfeit. He did not appear for a hearing this morning.

INSTITUTE AT UNIONTOWN.

County Superintendent Will Soon Begin Arrangements for it.

County Superintendent of Schools C. G. Jewell is in town last evening on his return home from Springfield township. He expects to commence making arrangements at once for the annual teachers' institute to be held in December in Uniontown.

PRESIDENT TAFT AND DIAZ MEET*Mexican Ruler Comes Over Into Texas and Taft Returns Visit—Dine Tonight in Royal Style.

United Press Telegram.
EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 16.—President Taft greeted President Diaz of Mexico today. While the Chief Executive exchanged expressions of friendship and good will, cannon boomed the salute that reached across the Rio Grande.

The program, which began with the arrival of President Diaz and his escort, will not close until the banquet tonight in the customs house at Juarez. President Diaz, dressed in a gorgeous uniform and surrounded by his staff, was met at the international bridge by General Franklin Bell, Governor Myer and Governor Campbell of Texas. Three batteries of artillery were drawn up; two squadrons of cavalry and the entire Ninth infantry. After being welcomed these men were driven in a carriage to the house where President Taft was waiting.

The two Presidents chatted together during luncheon, after which Diaz was escorted to the bridge and returned to Juarez. President Taft, Captain Bull and party then crossed the bridge and were received at the Customs House.

COLLEGE BOY GETS
TAR AND FEATHERS*Freshman at Mt. Union College Suffers
From Fearful Abuse by Twelve Masked Youths.

Special to The Courier.
ALLIANCE, O., Oct. 16.—President McMaster of Mt. Union College is conducting a rigid inquiry into the torturing of Forest Whitton of Cambridge, O., a freshman divinity student, last night.

Whitton appeared in the chapel, his head bare, except for a scalp lock, his neck a livid red where the skin had been scrubbed off in removing a coat of tar and feathers and leaves in which he was dressed by twelve masked youths at midnight. Investigation revealed his entire body in similar condition.

The masked party dragged him from his room in Miller Hall last night, removed his clothes and tied him to a tree, executing about him a war dance. They then poured oil over him, painted him with tar, feathers and leaves, finally removing nearly all his hair with horse clippers. For an hour he was made to endure the pangs of the cold. Then his bonds were loosed, and his tormentors melted into the night, while he made his way to Miller Hall.

CAUGHT IN FAIRMONT;
WANTED IN FAYETTE*Henry Jackson in a Fair Way to Go Back to the Western Penitentiary.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 16.—Henry Jackson, badly wanted by the Fayette county authorities, has bobbed up in Fairmont, where he was arrested yesterday for stealing Thomas Jordan. Officers here will try to bring Jackson back to Uniontown unless the West Virginia authorities desire to hold him.

Some weeks ago, and not long after Jackson was released from the penitentiary, he is alleged to have robbed Joseph King, an aged man, of $15, and the same night cut loose and cleaned out the laundry establishment and Chinese tea room of Lee Sing, on Peter street.

From that time until his arrest in Fairmont the whereabouts of Jackson have been a mystery.

NOVEMBER COURT*In Westmoreland County Has 46 Cases on Docket.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 16.—With only 20 days until the November term of quarter sessions begins, the docket in the clerk's office shows 46 cases scheduled for trial. Out of this number one man stands charged with murder.

Steve Pochorko is charged with aggravated assault and battery and Sam Yarmoski, Stephen Fedorch and Chas. Giffin have to face charges of felonious assault and battery. Leo Stiffo of near Derry, has taken an appeal in his case which was before Squire H. A. Walker, charged with having in his possession fire arms. It is likely several other cases of this kind will be aired in court.

MAY LOSE SIGHT.*Henry Koontz Meets With Serious Accident Packing Bath Tub.

As the result of an accident with which he met in Uniontown last Tuesday Henry Koontz of the West Side will probably lose the sight of his right eye. He was packing a bath tub when a piece of steel penetrated his eye. He was removed to the Cottage hospital and as yet the physicians have been unable to remove the steel.

It will probably be two or three days before it can be determined whether or not he will lose the sight of his eye.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAINS*Ties Are Placed on Tracks at Wheeling Three Times.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Three attempts within the city limits to wreck Wheeling & Lake Erie trains are puzzling the police and railroad detectives.

At an unfrequented spot east of the tunnel, under Wheeling Hill, through which trains pass before crossing the Ohio river, the crew of a yard engine found cross-ties on the rails at a siding. They were removed, but when a passenger train leaving Wheeling later reached the siding the ties were again on the rails. A steam pipe was broken and slight damage done to the engine. After the crew removed the ties and reported to the local officers the train proceeded. The ties were again placed on the rails and were struck by an engine drawing a local freight train. Engineer Stout was thrown from the cab and the engine tank fell on him, dislocating his shoulder.

A social time followed and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

SIMPSON FREE.*Always Claimed He Was Innocent of Irwin Robbery.

Robert Simpson, who was convicted jointly with John Coulin, alias "Farmer John," for an attempt to rob a bank at Irwin, in the fall of 1902, and was sentenced to 10 years in the Western Penitentiary, was released from that institution Thursday morning. Simpson was taken to the prison in February, 1903, and as he was a model prisoner during his incarceration, his sentence was shortened almost four years. He always claimed he was innocent of the robbery.

"Farmer John" was pardoned after he had served two years, when it was proved through his attorney, John Marston, that he was not with the gang of safe blowers at Irwin.

Not Until Mrs. Newberg Wrote a Note to Mother Would the Girl
Go Back for Another Bottle and Take It Home With Her.

Returning from the drug store with a bottle of carbolic acid which had been prescribed by a physician, little Louise Burkhart, daughter of Benjamin Burkhart, of South Connellsville, was painfully, if not seriously burned about 2 o'clock this morning.

The child was so pained and frightened over the accident that it was with difficulty that she was persuaded to go home. She went only after Mrs. Rosa Newberg, a friend of the family, wrote a note to the child's mother explaining the affair.

The child dropped the bottle at the corner of Main street and Meadow lane. The acid splattered all over the place, and in picking up the broken fragments, the girl got acid all over both her hands. They were badly burned. Then, not understanding the dangerous nature of the acid, the child put her hands to her face. Her right eye was so badly burned that the sight may be affected.

The girl, in spite of her painful injuries, went back to the drug store and purchased another bottle of the acid, which she took home with her.

United Press Special.
ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 16.—The furniture factory and home of Daniel B. Gary, President of the Civic League, were wrecked by dynamite early today. This was the climax of the bitter fight waged between the saloon and anti-saloon factions.

The first explosion, at 2 A. M., partially wrecked the factory. Gary hurried to the scene with the police, but they were unable to find any trace of the dynamiters.

Two hours later the rear of his home was blown out. The family was sleeping in the front part and none was injured. The police again failed to find any trace of the dynamiters.

The Civic League, of which Gary is President, has caused fines aggregating $30,000 to be assessed against the saloon element.

United Press Telegram.
HENDAYE, France, Oct. 16.—The fall of the Spanish Cabinet is predicted today by persons arriving here from Madrid who say that the opening session of the Cortes yesterday clearly demonstrated that the Liberals will control the sessions. The expected collisions with the Liberals has taken place, and now they present an overwhelming majority.

The arrivals say the opening session was the stormiest in years. Rioting accompanied the initial ceremonies. Fists, ink stands and canes were used by the members in belaboring each other, though ushers and others sought to keep the combatants apart. Many challenges for duels were hurled back and forth.

In the event the Cabinet is overthrown General Weiler is the most probable man for the premiership.

PERVERT NEGRO.*Sent to Jail on Complaint of Two Boy Vagrants.

William Moore, a negro who spends most of his time on the coke ovens, although he always seems well supplied with money, was held for court this morning by Justice of the Peace Frank Miller on charges of an unprintable crime preferred by County Detective Frank McLaughlin. The witnesses against Moore were Francis Turner and Harry Miller, both of whom have been held for court as vagrants, and will testify against Moore when the case comes to trial. All three were committed to jail.

Miller testified that Moore had made improper proposals to him and to other lads. Turner gave the same testimony. Moore bought the boys Jesse James novels and gave them money for doing chores.

After hearing the evidence in the case Squire Miller decided there was sufficient to warrant holding the negro for court without bail.

He was home all night and went to the doctor's office and had the doctor call up Mitchell to come and get him. He did not know he was wanted until I told him when he came home.

SATURDAY EVENING, OCT. 16, 1909.

THE COKE REGION'S
COAL VEINS AND ITS LIFE.

We note the development of an interesting but not unexpected question in the Connelleville coke region, one involving mining rights and conditions. For many years past it has been the common custom of promoters to discover other tracts of coking coal "as good as Connelleville," and some of the more enthusiastic and, to say the least, enterprising members of this large discovery club have claimed that their particular finds were even better than Connelleville coal.

Simultaneously with these discoveries, the finders have announced with more or less persistence and positiveness, and have backed their predictions by figures more or less capable of lying, that the life of the Connelleville region was limited to a few brief years; that decadence had already set in; that the subject was tottering and feeble; that the funeral had better be arranged and a successor appointed to the Kingdom of Coke; and, indeed, the only thing which has prevented the selection of this successor has been the conflicting claims of other regions.

But the Connelleville region has many years yet to live measured by its single coal seam known as the Connelleville coking coal, and it has many more years of life as a coal and coke producing section after all the Connelleville coal is exhausted, because it has other coals. It has, for example, the Sewickley vein above and the Freeport vein beneath, all of which make excellent coke; in fact, coke is even now being made from them right in the Connelleville region; and that is where the trouble comes in.

The Sewickley vein lies very near the surface and is often difficult to operate on that account. It also lies comparatively close to the Connelleville seam and the operation of both at the same time especially by different operators is probably attended by grave danger as is claimed. If so the relative rights of the owners are involved in a knotty tangle, and the sooner the courts lay down a rule of law the better it will be for all concerned.

THE FARMERS' FIGHT
AGAINST THE HUNTERS.

The annual conflict between the hunters and the farmers began promptly upon the opening of the hunting season yesterday and the fight promises to be better than ever. There has been an unusual demand for trespass notices and a notable activity among farmers in organizing small and compact organizations for the policing of their property.

Like most others, this question has two sides to it, and they have already been discussed at length in these columns. On one side is the common courtesy which will not object to the average hunter walking over and shooting over the ordinary farm lands if he does so with due regard to the rights of the owner; on the other, is the fact that many hunters ignore this right and recklessly or wantonly damage the crops, the fences and the growing timber, and often start destructive fires.

There is a further and more serious objection advanced by the farmers, namely, the disposition of some hunters to shoot all the live stock in sight, including the farmer himself. The last objection is overwhelming, and any farmer who has reason to fear such an untimely fate is fully justified in pointing his land with cannon as well as trespass notices.

Hunters will either have to shoot better and with greater discrimination, or they will have to be barred from private property altogether. Perhaps it would be just as well if they were barred, since in that event sportmen would form clubs for the purchase and maintenance of large game preserves which would help materially in the good work of forest conservation, which means better rainfall and better crops for the farmer, and better water supplies for the urban population.

CONNELLSVILLE
REMAINS THE CENTER.

The announcement that the West Penn system is about to build a new line between Connelleville and Uniontown via the Leisengraves and other intervening coke villages shows a just appreciation of the possibilities of trolley traffic in the Connelleville coke region, a proposition which only a few years since was approached by farseeing capitalists with a caution amounting to timidity.

Uniontown has been in a fever of excitement for some time past over a proposed loop through the town, but the construction of the Leisengraves line will complete two great loops in the whole system with Connelleville as their center. We already have two routes to Greensburg and we are promised two to Uniontown.

In spite of all the blustering and blowing of other localities, Connelleville remains firmly fixed as the center of the coke region which bears its name to the uttermost ends of the earth and which will never be known by any other appellation.

A MATTER OF BUSINESS
AS WELL AS HUMANITY.

The modern practice of railroad construction follows the English plan and avoids grade crossings. The initial cost of construction under this plan is greater, but the ultimate results are much more efficient and economical, not to mention the humane feature of the proposition.

In the line of efficiency we have greater speed, which in itself means greater economy in operation. Successful modern railway management depends largely on the cost per ton per mile in operation. Then there is the other and extensive extraordinary expense which springs from damage suits resulting from grade-crossing accidents. This expense is the price of blood. There is no rule by which it can be estimated. It hangs like a threat over many a promising surplus treasury to wait it away in a red deluge.

Hence railway managers have concluded that it is safer and better business to eliminate as far as possible, even at liberal cost, the grade-crossing which not only threatens the lives of the people but likewise the earnings of the railway companies.

THE GREATER SIGNIFICANCE.
A South Connelleville citizen sees significance in the 400-plate dinner at which Connelleville proposes to formally greet its coming industrial guest and wonders whether the 400 plates bear any relation to the 400 looms in the proposed silk mill. He says:

The 400-loom mill recommended finds a suggestive parallel in the 400 plates designed for the feast. Whoever fixed the latter number deserves a compliment, either for ready wit, or a happy hit. Ladies will be the principal workers, putting the material together in the mill, and so they will be at the banquet. And every man may find himself sampling the finished goods and discussing the quality of the work done by delicate fingers.

There may have been significance in the fact that the dinner contemplates the same number of plates as looms in the proposed silk mill, but there will be a greater significance in the meeting if behind every one of those plates sits a business man or property-owner of Connelleville.

The agony of the baseball fans will be over this afternoon and the whole world will breathe a sigh of relief. There will be other sighs, too, sighs of satisfaction from those who have seen their bets and signs of despair from those who lost; sighs of sorrow from those who were disappointed in the game, because the season, with its closed, and signs of impatience from those who are waiting for the football season to begin. Out of this fighting season, in which the Connelleville seem to join, we will hope that the future will bring an Indian Summer of joyous if feeling content before winter freezes up most outdoor athletics.

Presidents Diaz and Taft meet today in the Bad Lands of Mexico, and it behooves each of them to keep his hand on his gun.

The pickpocket who tackled a "Vassar girl" and was pummeled thoroughly while being held for the police, "got in the act." He says he knows that some of the Vassar girls are fullbacks and most of them at least halfbacks.

Explorer Cook has been temperate about the North Pole denials, but he evinces a disposition to go after the denials. He says he didn't climb to the top of Mount McKinley before he gained the top of the world. It's up to Explorer Cook to get on top of it and get busy in his own defense. A man who does the strenuous things he claims to have done should be strenuous in his defense when attacked by others. Besides, the people like a fighter.

Judge Gary is being feted by the independent oil interests. Is it possible that the new Steel Mergers is flirting with the old?

Are the aviators getting reckless or confident? That possibly depends upon whether they escape with their lives or not. If they are killed, we must assume that they were reckless; if they escape, it is proof of their confidence in themselves and their machines.

Uniontown is preparing to loop-the-loop.

There are lots of Connelleville mothers who are willing to swear that no beauty show in the world ever compared with Dunn's baby show yesterday, and we are inclined to believe them. Did not the Compassionate One say: "Suffer them to come unto me; for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

The State Sabbath School Association claims to President Helzer of the Gravelles probably because he is the Sweet Pickle of the lot.

Squaw Winter hangs on.

There is a determined disposition to prove to the Connelleville coke operators that Kentucky coal is quite as fine as those other Kentucky products, women, whiskey and horses.

Greene county railroad plans multiply.

The theatrical season is on in earnest in Connelleville. The attractions grow more attractive as business grows better.

West Newton is convinced that the deadly cigarette is dangerous to the safety of the town as well as the safety of its young persons.

The Spanish throne is said to be shaky. All monarchies are shaky in this age of representative government. Alfonso has better reign as King and not for President. Dine can give him some pointers.

We fear there is too much class in our public schools.

Greene county coal deals are getting brisk, and the "single" part of it is that most of the pits have been made by local capitalists. The development of the field will not take place until the coal passes into the hands of operators who are not interested in the development of the market, but in the unshakable confidence in the future of such investments.

Colombia is having a revolutionary diversion. Things are probably settling down that way.

Until the North Pole row is finally settled, the Explorers' Club promises to find out about that Mt. McKinley ascension.

HUNTING SEASON AT SCOTTSDALE.

Farmers Say They Are in Danger of Their Lives
Now.

THE Y. M. C. A. CLASSES OPEN

Joe Baird Gets on Road With His Engine—Constable Brown Says He Will Vindicate Recent Action—Other
News of Mill Town.

SCOTTSDALE, Oct. 16.—The opening of the hunting season yesterday caused an exodus of sportsmen, and near Lockport, the country, both that surrounding town and hunting grounds at a distance. While it is a season of pleasure for the owners of guns the farmers who earn to town yesterday and today report that the trespassing on farms posted with notices is about as bad as ever, and that everyone who goes into the fields to perform the ordinary work of agriculture is in danger of being shot by careless hunters, who blaze around indiscriminately.

More than that they charge that although the season is not open there is a good deal more rabbit hunting being done than there is anything else. The dogs are chasing rabbits, and the latter's dead bodies and skins have been found on several farms. If this be the case this locality is a fit subject for investigation upon the part of a game warden.

Y. M. C. A. Classes Open.

The Young Men's Christian Association opened their classes yesterday evening, with a good start on the various studies which are being taught here. This adjunct to the association has been promoted with good success in Scottdale for a number of years, and the best of results to the studiously inclined have been apparent. With capable teachers and earnest students the Y. M. C. A. classes have been making a mark in practical education. In the contest for members the shop and mill men are shown on the banners to have 37 points to the Business and Professional Men's 24.

Looking After Coal Lands.

It is reported that W. J. Segar and his brothers have been about Ruffalo several days this week investigating coal prospects and looking up the opportunities for development in that section. It is said that their attention is being given to the Frimort coal and that they consider developing this vein.

Football This Afternoon.

The Scottdale Scholastic team, rejoicing in a long string of victories are pitted this afternoon against the Connelleville Scholastics at Loucks Park at 3:30. The High School team is booked for Greensburg to play a preliminary game there, with the High School second team, before the Greensburg High School goes up against the W. & J. Academy team.

On the Road Again.

Joseph Baird of near Cheltenham passed through here with his thrashing machine engine drawing the hay trailer, and will put the latter to work among the hay crops of some of the farmers west of town. The engine is the one that fell through the bridge at Morgan station as the Bairds were coming down from Dry Hill some days ago. The engine is the second one that Baird has had fall through a bridge, his first one being a victim of a rotten bridge at Cheltenham a couple of years ago.

Pay Day Once More.

This is pay day for the Scottdale plant and the Old Meadow plant of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company and several other plants here and a large bunch of money will enter into circulation today. This is weather that the shoe and clothing men welcome heartily as it will be good business for them.

Rushing the Work.

The contractors are rushing the work of building the new laundry on Broadway and the concrete flooring is being put down now, the building being a very large one extending clear back to the alley and the full front of the lot.

Will Vindicate Himself.

Constable Adam Brown of Everson borough claims that he was made the victim of spite in being hailed before Justice of the Peace J. C. Brownfield through charges made by Corn Carshira, a pretty 18 year old girl, whom he arrested. Brown says through a friend that he arrested the girl at two o'clock in the morning and that she could not give any good account of her actions, so he placed her in the lockup. Constable Brown says that at the proper time he will make a complete vindication of his action. He also deprecates the fact that many people assumed that his commitment meant that he went to jail. The Courier stated that he was committed, but that he secured bail. Brown was not placed in jail.

The Climax.

Baby Day at the E. Dunn Stores Attracted Array of Dimpled Tots.

Yesterday was Baby Day at E. Dunn's stores. To know that it was a success one only needed to take a peep into the big parlor room on the second floor where scores upon scores of household prodigies were gathered for the reception. There were boys and girls, and all of them were dainty and sweet and full of fun and the pranks of toddlers.

One year ago Baby Day in Connelleville was inaugurated by Captain E. Dunn. While the first one was a success that of yesterday put it far in the shade. Shortly before 2 o'clock mothers and their babies, some with one and some with two, began arriving at the store. Over 500 babies, ranging in age from five weeks to three years, were present. Then lots of little tots, five and six years old, but recently deprived of the privilege of extended baby at home by a newcomer in the family, heard of the reception and strayed in unaccompanied.

Fond mothers, since receiving the invitations, looked forward to the occasion with great interest and spent many pleasant hours in preparing their babies' outfits for the reception. Sturdy little fellows and dainty dimpled baby girls attired in pretty lace trims, frocked for hours. It would have been impossible to have chosen the prettiest baby. Connelleville should feel proud of its little ones, as it can be seen in saying that the gathering at Dunn's yesterday could not be equaled for beauty in any of the surrounding towns.

The entire carpet room was thrown over for the babies and nothing was left undone by the firm and employees toward looking after the comfort of the little guests.

Captain E. Dunn deserves congratulations as an entertainer for the babies. Upon their arrival each baby girl was given a pretty doll. The boys grabbed eagerly at gum balls and immediately proceeded to bounce them off the downy heads of the girls. The mothers were presented with pink and white carnations. The large room was filled with babies and the babies of their baby talk intelligible toward fond mothers. During the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock several hundred ladies hearing of the reception came to take a peep at the little ones as they played about with their dolls and balls. Mothers' faces beamed with delight as they watched their little ones, and heard them lip their baby talk. A fine musical program was rendered by Kiforle's orchestra. The large room was handsomely decorated for the occasion, large palms and ferns being placed in every available space and handsome rugs covered the floors. Displayed throughout the store on the first floor was a pretty selection of babies' apparel, while the upper window was also devoted to the babies.

If any baby was forgotten it was not the fault of Captain E. Dunn. Every possible effort was made to have them all receive invitations. For a number of years it has been the custom of the firm to weigh all the new babies in town and present them with a pretty little souvenir. The names of the babies weighed are kept for reference and in this manner no baby weighed by the firm is missed. The mothers of the babies highly appreciate the manner in which they and their babies were treated yesterday afternoon by the firm and their courteous employees. All business was dispensed with for the afternoon so as to give their entire attention to the babies.

Among the babies present from out of town were: D. Knox Henderson, Thomas Miller, John Williams, of Uniontown; Tormay Brown, Nora McFarland, Kenneth E. Miller, Virginia and Theresa Clingerman and Dorothy McKee of Scottdale; Violet Ritchey, Elizabeth Wells, Harriet Mann and Catherine Eason of Dunbar; Mary Louise Fradette of Indianapolis; Dorothy and Richard Hague, Marie and John Donnelly of Muscatine; Alfred J. Cochran and Sarah B. Kariz of Dawson; Rand and Martha Hood of Birmingham, Ala.; Virginia McGrath of Pittsburgh; Winola Smith of Mt. Pleasant; Madeline Layton of Dunbar.

Among the mothers who accompanied the babies were: Mrs. D. W. Henderson, Mrs. W. C. Mullen of Uniontown; Mrs. Luther Nemon of Dunbar; Mrs. William Hood of Birmingham, Ala.; and Mrs. D. F. Fradette of Indianapolis.

distance of 37.4 miles, there will remain but three important grade crossings, and preparations are being made for the abolition of one of these. Since 1st, 1902, approximately seven and one-half years ago, 44 grade crossings have been eliminated on the Pittsburgh division. With the completion of the work now authorized there will have been removed 50 crossings at grade, leaving but 28 on the main passenger line between Pittsburgh and Altoona.

ROAD TO YESTERDAY OPENS THE COLONIAL

Weak Cast Presents Clever Play as
First Offering at the Shubert House.

"The Road to Yesterday" has come and gone. It left behind no loud acclaim for a return date. Not since "Spangles" visited the Colonial about five years ago, has such a chilling theatrical disappointment struck town as the opening attraction for the Colonial. In justice to Manager John R. Ruth the statement is due that he accepted the offering in good faith as a first class attraction. The company was not what it was represented in him. No manager can know every show he books, but this one came highly recommended, and the management acted in good faith in placing it here to open the house.

"The Road to Yesterday" as presented by the company at the Colonial last night had scarcely a feature worth commendation, except the stage settings. The players were unfamiliar with their lines and all the talent straying within the cast could ordinarily be found in a play of less pretensions. The only redeeming feature of the play was the work of Miss Florence Racineff, a Russian actress who is being schooled in the American drama. With that cast she is in it looks as though the schooling will be done by her.

The Colonial presented a bright, new appearance, and will live down the unfortunate incident of landing a bad show for the opener. The Shuberts have good attractions and will send them here.

The gallery gods reigned supreme between acts. Their noise and clamor was beyond bounds of reason.

The audience was small, but this was perhaps fortunate in view of the mediocre attraction. But, as one spectator remarked, it must have been a mighty good company that kept "The Road to Yesterday" on Broadway for a whole season. The company opens in Louisville, Ky., for a week, beginning Sunday night. The towns between here and Louisville need not feel elated because the show passes them by.

GRADE CROSSINGS

To Be Eliminated as Rapidly as Possible by P. R. R.

In furtherance of its policy of invariably avoiding grade crossings in all new and revised construction work, and of eliminating as rapidly as possible such crossings as are considered dangerous, the Pennsylvania railroad, in making improvements on its main line between Altoona and Pittsburgh, will eliminate six crossings at highways over which there is heavy travel.

Work to be done at Greensburg, includes the removal of a tunnel, a change of grade, and the elimination of one grade crossing. In view of the large number of employees of the Cambria Street Company who use the Station street grade crossing at Johnstown, an overhead bridge is to be constructed at that point and an underground tunnel for pedestrians will be built just west of the passenger station. Between Johnstown and Altoona, a

THOMPSON and PAUL ARMSTRONG

Frederic Thompson. Copyright, 1939, by Frederic Thompson. All Rights Reserved.

Sommers had been about the works long enough to know Pinckney's reputation among the men, but this open flouting in their very faces was worse than anything he had imagined.

"Who is it?" he asked contemptuously.

"I think it's Smith's daughter, Lucy," hesitated Marsh.

Sommers' face flamed with anger. He understood now, he thought, why Pinckney had been willing to leave Smith on the job, even though he was drunk. It all seemed simple. Smith must buy immunity from punishment in this shameful fashion.

Contempt for Pinckney and rage that he should run the risk of being ruined by the dirty work of such an inferior Sommers to serve anger. He turned back and ran again up the steps to the little office, knocking fiercely this time on the door.

"Pinckney, come out of there at once!" he shouted.

The command was so fiercely given the general manager could not but obey. He opened the door, coming out slowly and in response to Sommers' gesture of command, followed him down the steps.

Frances, her face partly covered with the shawl, came after Pinckney. At the bottom of the steps the naval officer turned on the manager of the works with fierce contempt.

"No wonder you keep Smith drunk on the job!" he exclaimed. "Haven't you got sense of shame enough not to take his daughter in that office before all these men?"

Pinckney understood the mistake, but it was anything to gain time now. "What business is that of yours?" he retorted angrily.

"Well, I'll make it my business," came the fierce reply. "It's my business when such conduct threatens to ruin my work as well as ruin a girl's name. You ought to be ashamed of yourself. Now, get her out quick. Then take Smith off this job."

He turned his back contemptuously on Pinckney and the girl just in time to meet the blazing, wrathful face of Joe O'Leary.

The assistant foreman had been fixed up by the doctor and now, with a bandaged head, had returned to the works just in time to see Pinckney and the girl with Sommers at the bottom of the steps. O'Leary, too, misunderstood.

"Mr. Pinckney," he yelled, "watch me! I cross myself, I know what you're doing to others, but you can't do it to my girl. I cross myself, and with it goes an oath that I'm going to kill you with my bare hands!"

He rushed forward, and Pinckney jumped back before his fierce attack. But escape would have been hopeless had not Frances, throwing back the shawl from her head, stepped in between, so that she faced both Sommers and O'Leary.

The wounded O'Leary stopped, staggered.

"Miss Durant!" he said slowly, in amazement. Sommers stared, startled, not knowing what to say. Then he saw the expression on the men's faces, and that forced him to speak.

"Mr. Pinckney," he explained all this at once, for the sake of O'Leary and these men.

Pinckney shrugged his shoulders.

"There's nothing to explain," he said. "Miss Durant wanted to see the Sommers gun made, and she borrowed one of Lucy Smith's dresses so as not to excite comment, that's all."

His tone was cool, collected, with just a touch of surprise in it that any explanation would be needed.

O'Leary stepped back awkwardly.

"Yes, sir. I beg your pardon for me hasty speech."

The general manager turned to Frances.

"Come! Let's go, Frances."

The girl had been looking at Sommers and he at her. Both knew that something more was needed. Something more must be said before the perfect understanding between them could be restored.

Finally, with a half sigh, she turned and started to walk away. Sommers stepped close to Pinckney.

"If you don't explain aloud at once why you attempted to put Miss Durant in an awkward position by looking that door I'll break your head. How dared you look that door? You— with your reputation about these works! Speak!"

"The door wasn't locked," retorted Pinckney aloud.

Frances heard. She stopped short, her face flushed with shame. Was it possible that Sommers thought there was anything wrong in her being there? Then anger at herself for coming and at him for letting himself provoke a scene swept her to action. She turned and stepped back quickly to the two men.

"Don't say a word, Mr. Pinckney," she ordered sharply. "I forbid you to speak. Lieutenant Sommers can think for a moment what his manner seems to imply. I refuse to give him any explanation. I must also refuse to even see him in the future."

Sommers looked at her again.

"Miss Durant, you don't understand," he explained.

The girl looked him coldly up and down.

"I do understand, Mr. Sommers. Good day." And, turning, she walked quickly away.

Sommers looked after her for a moment, then, seeing the hopelessness of the misunderstanding, turned back to the furnace. As he did so for the first time he noticed his gun being transferred to the tempering bath.

"Here! What's this?" he shouted. But before he could say more Smith had stopped in front of him.

The foreman was wild with drunken glee now. He had won, he felt, and there was nothing to do but hold Sommers off a minute longer.

"What do you think of it now?" he shouted. "Your girl was locked up with him, wasn't she? Lots of chance you stand against the general manager when she'll lock herself in the office with him."

As the last jeering word came out Sommers swung wildly. Smith staggered, then came back with the iron bar raised. In an instant he had brought it crashing down upon the lieutenant's head. Then, as the naval officer fell, in rage Smith bent over and seized him.

"What are you doing?" shouted Pinckney.

But Smith, insane from rage and the sight of blood, was beyond manning.

He lifted the half dazed sailor and staggered with him toward an open furnace.

FRANCES GOES TO SEA.

THREE months had passed following the casting of the Sommers gun, three months that had brought many changes to those whose lives had been for a short time tangled in the intricate maze of pride, love and ambition.

The gun had been taken to the proving grounds and there had stood the test. The naval board was enthusiastic over it. All that remained was for the weapon to prove its efficiency on shipboard at target practice and it would be adopted by the government.

Orders on the lieutenant's gun were still being pending the result of target practice.

Lieutenant Sommers had been ordered back to sea duty. Apparently he had achieved his ambition. The future looked bright for him in his chosen profession. Fellow officers envied him. He was considered a wonderful young man, and a bright future in the service of his country seemed in store.

All this on the side of ambition, but on the other side life was not so bright. He knew that no matter how high he might rise in his profession happiness could not be his. He had lost forever the girl he loved, and satisfied ambition meant little to him compared to that.

On the morning after the sensational events in the furnace room Sommers had called at the Durant house. Frances had refused to see him. He wrote her a letter, and it was returned to him unopened. Finally he managed to meet her on the street, but she passed him by without speaking.

Next morning the young officer reported back in Washington for duty.

Naval men are used to hard knocks. Sommers came to. He had dodged partly, and the bar caught him only a glancing blow. Now he realized his danger and with a desperate effort tore himself loose.

Smith had dropped the bar. It was an even thing now. Wildly the foreman rushed, but a straight left stopped him, and then a force right uppercut, delivered close, brought him to his knees.

He arose only to meet another swing that dropped him senseless, and as he fell his hand struck the ground just under the big trip hammer.

The hammer was coming down when Sommers with a quick jerk dragged his man out just in time. Then as he stood above his senseless antagonist he heard the voice of Pinckney joyously triumphant:

"All right! The Sommers gun is in the bath!"

The dirty trick had been safely turned.

The Opinion of a Prominent Attorney

"I have been using Newbro's Herpicide for a number of years. At first I used it for dandruff, but since my troubles from that source have ceased I have continued for the pleasing effect it has upon the head. The use of Herpicide means a clean scalp, a good head of hair and a coat collar free from the appearance of grease. It is a luxurious habit hard to break off when you have once become accustomed to it."

THE SOISSON.

"Brewster's Millions" tonight. "Brewster's Millions" which comes to the Soisson theatre tonight is the result of a unique and original idea. Most people find it a task to accumulate a million dollars in a year—strange as it may seem in these days of endless-chain fortunes—but Monty Brewster has the rather hilarious occupation of spending that amount in 12 months. On this idea the play was founded. It is carried through four acts with increasing action and amusing situations, the great climax coming in the third scene, with the great yacht and sea-storm effect, a piece of stage realism that has been as much commended as the play itself.

Robert Ober, the money spending

Brewster succeeds in draining every bit of humor out of his comedy scenes

Johnson the Favorite Over Ketchell In Big Fight at Colma This Afternoon.

Special to The Courier.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Which will be the one to come off?

Ketchell or Johnson?
With Ketchell, challenger for the heavy-weight championship of the world, and Jack Johnson, black holder of the much-coveted title, ready for the going at Colma this afternoon that will send the little white man and the giant negro away on their scheduled 20-round bout, the fight fans are figuring on the respective chances of the pair.

At first blush, Johnson looks so overwhelmingly the better of the two that the dyed-in-the-wool fans involuntarily exclaim: "Ketchell hasn't the slightest chance in the world. It's a shame to let a fellow his size fight that big smoke." And then the very compassion that moves them to express words of pity for the Assasin compels them to seek the dope for one straw, for one bit of ivy on which to hang the hope that the white boy will not be killed outright.

Ah! Here we have it! Philadelphia Jack O'Brien almost broke even with Johnson in six rounds. Stanley Ketchell came along and flattened the Confessor in three rounds. Now, then, it resolves itself into a simple example in arithmetic. If Johnson fails to stop O'Brien in six rounds and Ketchell topples over the same man in less than half that time, why shouldn't Ketchell have a mighty good chance with Johnson in 20 rounds, and, perhaps, beat him? Yes, why shouldn't he? Ask yourself that question three times and see if you can get the answer.

Here it is: When Johnson fought O'Brien he didn't slip over the knockout because he wouldn't if he could have and couldn't if he would have. Sounds a bit complex, but it's right. In the first place, Johnson was hog fat, champagne had cut his speed, he had no training, and didn't care. In the second place, he wasn't going to show everything he knew, because he had made up his mind not to tip the mitt for the benefit of Jim Jeffries. He fought as he fought against Al Kaufman, under wraps. In both fights he employed only his famous right upper cut and a straight left jab. Not once did he try a punch that carried the knockout. So any judge of boxing who saw either one of the black's two most important fights since his return from Australia will tell you that he has something good in reserve—something that is as good as Papke gave Ketchell when he knocked him out, and not even the most ardent partisan of the sensational Michigan fighter will contend that Papke is one-half the fighter that Johnson is.

Johnson is taller, stronger, heavier than Ketchell. He is fully as fast on his feet, a bit harder, is a far better boxer than Ketchell, and as a defensive fighter is without a peer. Where, then, can Ketchell have it on him?

In gameness, 99 out of 100 bugs will tell you.

"Johnson has a yellow streak a yard wide," is what they all say. Even Johnson himself isn't sure that he hasn't a yellow streak.

While "fanning" with a number of sports in New York last spring Jim Coffroth, who was then dicker for the Johnson-Ketchell match, took Johnson off his feet by suddenly asking: "Jack, do you think you are game?"

For a moment Johnson was stunned. When he recovered from his astonishment he grinned a sheepish grin and said: "I don't know, Mr. Coffroth."

Again, while fighting Kaufman one of the spectators in the champion's corner shouted between the rounds: "You've got a yellow streak, Jack!"

Quickly turning to the man who had hurled the taunt, but without the least display of anger, Johnson, shot back: "Yes, maybe I have, but none of these big fellows seem to be able to locate it."

If Ketchell can locate it, fine for the white boy. Jeff can go back to the alfalfa ranch and stay there, but Ketchell is going to have an awful time doing the Columbus. In fact, while he is endeavoring to nail the flag of the white race to Johnson's yellow streak he is more likely to take a Brodie to the neck.

Ketchell's plan of battle, it is stated, is to waste in and tear Johnson's bantous to pieces, which is to say that the negro's kitchen will be his main point of attack. He can't reach that bobbing black head, and even if he could he would hurt himself more than he would his opponent. So naturally he must go after the stomach. If he succeeds in landing a couple of his terrible drives, he will make the black awfully sick and perhaps finish him. Perhaps.

In the meantime, it must be borne in mind that Johnson holds his stomach in high regard, especially when threatened by a flat, and that his gorilla-like arms are as good as a sheet of Harveyized steel armor-plate.

Again, which will be the one to come off—the Johnson Apollonian grin or the cruel smile of the Assasin?

The betting ought to be about 3 to 1 that Johnson will be smiling at the finish.

CURED IN ONE MONTH BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am seventy-seven years old and one day, some years ago, I fell from a step-ladder, bruising my head. In a few days I could not walk, called in a doctor and inside of a week erysipelas set in. The doctor had not cured me of that when I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered I cannot tell. I could not sleep at night because of the itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation; it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make me worse and I was almost out of my mind. I read of Cuticura and sent my wife to the drugstore, who was a member of my lodge of Odd Fellows, for a set of the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first solid night's sleep I had had for six months. I was not afraid to use plenty of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap with hot water and in a week's time I was able to put on my clothes again. In a month I was cured. From that day to this I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too highly. I may add that I have a very heavy head of hair which I owe to Cuticura. W. Harrison Smith, R. F. D. 2, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, '08.

A single set of the Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient for the treatment of the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning and scaly humors, eczema, rashes and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail. Guaranteed to cure and may be used from the hour of birth. Cuticura Soap (2c), Ointment (5c), Resolvent (5c) and Cuticura Tablets (5c) are sold everywhere. Write for literature. ## COOK MEANS TO REFUTE CHARGES.

Intimates That Money Had Something to Do With Barrill's Affidavit. Anthony Flala and Professor Parker Invited to Lead Expedition.

SAYS THE RECORDS ARE THERE

New York, Oct. 15.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, refuting the charges that he had not ascended Mount McKinley in Alaska in 1906, came out with a statement in New York last night after a three-hour conference with his attorney, intimating that Edward N. Barrill, the guide who accompanied him, had perjured himself in his recent affidavit for a consideration offered by his detractors.

The statement in part is as follows: "Upon my return from Atlantic City I conferred with a confidential agent whom I had sent to Montana to investigate stories which had reached me in Kansas City to the effect that strong inducements had been offered Edward N. Barrill, the guide who accompanied me to the summit of Mount McKinley in the summer of 1906. This confidential agent has returned from Montana and for good reasons I do not care at the present time to make his name public."

"After a thorough investigation there he reports to me that an offer of a considerable sum of money was made to Mr. Barrill on the condition that he prepare and sign an affidavit which would be calculated to discredit my claim that I succeeded in scaling the Alaska peak. This offer, so my representative informs me, was made to Mr. Barrill in the presence of C. G. Bridgford, a reputable citizen of Hamilton, Mont., who is associated with Mr. Barrill in the real estate business. Barrill at that time, according to the statement of Mr. Bridgford to my representative, declined to make such an affidavit and informed me that I did not reach the top of Mount McKinley that to make such an affidavit he would have to 'commit perjury and sell his own soul.'"

"I have forwarded a telegram to Anthony Flala asking him to head an expedition to Mount McKinley to bring back my records. Another telegram has been sent to Professor Henshott C. Parker of Columbia University, who accompanied me in the early stages of my last Mount McKinley expedition, asking him to join Flala on this expedition."

"Mr. Flala and Professor Parker no doubt will invite a number of expert mountain climbers to accompany them on the expedition. The result of their efforts will not at rest forever any doubt that may exist as to whether Barrill and myself reached the top of the summit and deposited there records as described in my book 'To the Top of the Continent.' The result of this expedition will further demonstrate whether Mr. Barrill, in the affidavit just made and published, has sworn falsely regarding the result of the 1906 expedition."

STORM CLAIMED MANY VICTIMS.

The Death List in Southern States Reaches High Mark.

ENTIRE TOWNS ARE DESTROYED

Havoc and Destruction in Path of Storm Which Swept Large Part of Southern States—Denmark, Tenn., Totally Destroyed.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 15.—With the known death list already reaching a total of thirty-seven and with thirteen others reported dead, with scores seriously injured and many others painfully bruised and scarred and with the property damage running to a million dollars or more, the havoc and destruction of the storm which swept middle and west Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and portion of Arkansas and South Carolina grows hourly as reports are received from remote points and as wire communications gradually resumed to a normal condition.

The storm was the worst that has visited this section of the south in years. Halves of counties were laid waste, towns were destroyed, plantations were greatly damaged and from all sections of the storm-swept area, come reports of loss of life.

Apparently the storm broke over middle and west Tennessee and proceeded in a southeasterly direction across the state into Alabama and Georgia. It came practically without warning and in some places it is reported that the wind attained a velocity of ninety miles an hour.

While only one death occurred at Denmark, Tenn., the horrors of the storm there were greatly heightened by the fire which started amid the ruins and debris of what was once a flourishing little town in middle Tennessee. The flames unquenched by the heavy downpour of rain and hail rapidly consumed what few dwellings and storehouses were left standing and today a scene of desolation is presented. Two hundred persons were rendered homeless.

Reports of five deaths and heavy damage come from McNairy county, where is located the famous battlefield of Shiloh and which was directly in the path of the storm. Homes and stores were leveled to the ground and great trees in the historic national cemetery were uprooted.

Many handsome and imposing statues in the national park were torn from the pedestals and property damage estimated at $100,000. It is impossible to confirm the report that thirteen lives have been lost at Stantville.

'FRAUD ORDER' ISSUED

"Western Specialty Company" Under Ban of Postoffice Department.
Washington, Oct. 15.—Suggestions as to how to make money by embroidering have got the "Western Specialty company" of Birmingham, Ill., into trouble. The postoffice department has issued a so-called "fraud order" against the Western Specialty company, denying it the use of the mails.

The company advertised that it wanted, at once, "ladies to copy letters at home; can earn $10 to $20 per week. Send ten cents for particulars." Correspondents who sent ten cents received a circular asking for an additional fifty cents for "complete instructions, plan of work, packing, mailing, etc." Instead of obtaining employment as copyists, the correspondents received a stamped pillow top with directions for embroidering it, and were advised that a commission of twenty-five cents would be paid for every order obtained for the purchase of a pillow top with instructions how to embroider.

Wilbur Wright Lets Flying Machine Go Along Without Guiding It.
College Park, Md., Oct. 15.—Wilbur Wright, who, with his brother Orville, used to manufacture bicycles out in Dayton, O., a few years ago, showed his early training at College Park and "took his hands off the handlebars" on the $30,000 biplane which belongs to the United States, letting it fly along for hundreds of yards at a forty-mile-an-hour clip.

Mr. Wright didn't perform this trick once, but several times, and he not only took his hands away from their customary position about the control levers, but he waved them in the air at the spectators below while the 1,000-pound machine whizzed by safely unguided.

She proved herself an entertaining speaker and an effort is making to get her to accept regular assignments which will require three speeches a week until the campaign closes.

PITTSBURG PIRATES WIN THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP FROM DETROIT IN BRILLIANT GAME ON BENNETT FIELD

NATIONAL LEAGUE TRIUMPHS OVER THE AMERICAN TEAM; BABE ADAMS TURNED TRICK.

Wild Bill Donovan Blows Up in the Second Inning When Pittsburgh Put Two Runs Over the Plate—Mullin Took the Mound in the Third—Pirates Added a Brace of Runs Again in the Fourth—A Merry-Go-Round on Schmidt—Wagner and Leach Slug Ball in Sixth, and Three Runs Score—Byrne and Moriarity Knocked Out in Collision—Final Score, Pittsburgh, 8; Detroit, 0.

United Press Telegram.
BENNETT PARK, Detroit, Oct. 16.—Bennett Park was crowded as it never was before when Hughie Jennings' Tigers and Fred Clarke's Pirates lined up for the deciding game for the championship of the world this afternoon. Every available seat was taken within the enclosure and standing room was at a premium not long after the gates opened.

While the weather conditions were far from ideal for a world's series game, or baseball contest of any kind, they were an improvement over the other three games played in this city. The sky was overcast with heavy clouds and a chilly wind blew across the diamond. Old Sol, being somewhat of a fan, peeked through the clouds occasionally but the outburst of cheers which greeted his every appearance drove him back once more.

The lineup of the Pirates was changed at the eleventh hour. Ham Hyatt going to first, Tom Jones, the big Tiger first baseman, suffered a couple of slight hemorrhages during the night and it is feared a rib is broken as the result of his collision with Owen Wilson Thursday. Jennings was undecided, until play was called, as to what Tiger would cover first.

Bill Abstein, of the Pirates, is said to have lost his nerve and Manager Clarke would not deny the story. Hyatt was the man picked for that position. Hyatt has played first in several games and is a valuable man except for the slowness he displays on his foot.

The miserable failure of Abstein in the present series was a great disappointment to the other players, all of whom have been plugging hard for Bill throughout the season. The players are not letting sentiment affect them, however, for they realize that the stakes are large. They are loyal to a man to Manager Fred Clarke and stand pat on his judgment.

A great cheer greeted Wild Bill Donovan as he advanced to the center of the diamond and prepared to serve the first ball to Bobby Byrne. Adams and Gibson will work for Pittsburgh, with Schmidt catching Donovan. Umpire Silk O'Loughlin is officiating behind the bat, Johnstone is on the bases, while Evans and Klein are guarding the foul lines. In spite of reports to the contrary, Tom Jones took his place on first for the Tigers.

Calanities started for Pittsburgh in the very first inning, but the Tigers also showed signs of slugs. Right, Byrne was forced to retire with a sprained ankle as the result of a collision with Moriarity at third base. That brought Bill Abstein back into the game, going to first base. Ham Hyatt was sent into middle field, while disillustrious Tommy Leach went back to his first love, the third corner.

Byrne was hit on the shoulder by Donovan and went to first. Neither Bush nor Delehanty covered second when Leach bunted, but Tommy was nipped at first. Clarke walked. Byrne tried to steal third and was nipped. He collided with great force against Moriarity and both of them being knocked out. The Tiger infielder resumed play. Clarke stole second and Wagner was passed, but the Carnegie Dutchman died on his way to second after Miller grounded to Bush.

second. Schmidt threw high. Wilson laid down a bunt and Abstein beat Schmidt's toss to third corner. Gibson popped to Bush. Hyatt flew to Crawford and Abstein slid into the pan in safety with the first run of the game. Leach walked, filling the pillows. Donovan pitched four wide ones at Clarke and the Pirate leader ambled to first, pushing all the other Pirates up a notch and sending Wilson under the wire with the second tally.

It looked like bad baseball in the second inning when, with two out, Schmidt bunted and tried to beat Gibson's toss to first. Moriarity had doubled, following Delehanty's pass. O'Leary running for the crippled Tiger. Crawford and Tom Jones were easy outs in this session.

After Miller singled and Abstein doubled, Wilson sent away a roller. Abstein crowded Miller off third and

The Mightiest Pirate of Them All.

Juck was run down. Bill was also tossed out and Wilson got back in safety only by a great slide. It was stupid baseball on the part of Abstein. Gibson forced Wilson at second.

Mullin batted for Donovan in the third inning but could not connect safely. Davy Jones got a single on his bunt but great fielding by Adams retired both Bush and Cobb.

The Pirates added two more to their string in the fourth. Mullin passed Hyatt and Leach rapped out a clean single. Adams had previously been retired. Clarke sacrificed both runners ahead a base and Mullin filled the sack, purposely passing Wagner.

Juck Miller was the candy kid with the bluey bingle, driving Hyatt and Leach across the pan with his cup. He swung second, too. Schmidt taking no chances with Wagner on third. Abstein fanned.

The Tigers got a pair of singles in the fourth but could not score. Delehanty and Tom Jones made the hits. The Pirates went out in order in the fifth and so did the Tigers. Bush was the last man up in this inning and as he stepped into the batter's box it started to snow. Bush popped to Wagner for the third out.

It there was any doubt of Pittsburgh's class it was dispelled in the sixth. After Wagner smashed the first three-bagger of the series to left field, scoring the two men ahead of him and ambling home when D. Jones made a miserable throw to the pan, Miller and Abstein were easy outs.

The Tigers were clearly downhearted in their half. Cobb was out on a punk roller to Adams. Crawford sent a skyscraper Clarke camped under while Delehanty sent up a high foul to Tommy Leach and ended the session.

Gibson connected with a two-bagger in the seventh, but died on third. O'Leary tossed Adams' roller to Bush for a relayed throw to first. Wilson went out on a fly to left in this session while Delehanty and T. Jones disposed of Hyatt.

Clarke got a walk in the eighth, stole second and scored on two outs. Detroit was pie for the Pirate champs in the eighth and ninth.

Babe Adams demonstrated by his work in this series that he is the greatest pitching find of recent years and fans are asking why he was not used often during the regular season. He has proved a cool, heady and resourceful twirler in every respect.

To Adams, more than any other man on the Pittsburgh team, belongs the credit for Pittsburgh's possession of the world's title. His friends predict and they have just reason for the prophecy, that he will be one of the best in the National League next year. More enthusiastic fans declare he is a second Christy Mathewson.

Schmidt bunted in front of the plate, but was an easy out. Gibson to Abstein. No runs, one hit no errors.

Third Inning.

Notes on Today's Game.
Didn't hear any suggestions of dirty ball playing as a result of the smash-relief came from the stands when the third Pittsburgh runner was retired. The little town of Pittston, Pa., plugged for the Tigers. Jennings was born there.

Neither team had much in the line of pitchers. Both the Pirates and Tigers placed their faith in a single twirler—Adams and Mullin.

Christy Mathewson never gave the Pirates more trouble than has one George Mullin.

Tris Speaker, regarded in American League circles as almost, if not entirely the equal of Ty Cobb, was the big factor in Boston's victory over the New York Nationals.

Jennings is the man who created the modern method of playing first base. Then Hal Chase came along and improved on Jennings' style several degrees.

Wild Bill lived up to his reputation in the second inning. They were coming easy for a championship game with the heavier forcing in a tally.

Byrne could not put his foot under him, but only left the playing field when forced to by his team mates. The Pirates evidently had planned to force Schmidt to throw every chance they got. Once a runner got to first a dash for second was sure to follow. Their game finally got the Dutchman up in the air.

Pittsburgh got to Mr. Mullin in the fourth for a brace of runs. The Pirate batters twitted the big pitcher, telling him what would happen in the succeeding sessions.

Tommy Leach looked natural on the third sack. The Wee One is just about one-third of that Pittsburgh team. Mullin was a disheartened looking man when the fifth was over. He got a taste of what Wild Bill Donovan was up against today. The Pirates played like demons.

And the next day it snowed. Delehanty tried to work Silk O'Loughlin in the second, but Silk was wise. Jim stepped in front of the ball. He later drew a pass.

When Moriarity limped to second after making a two base drive good enough for a triple, Jennings knew it was all off and sent O'Leary in. Moriarity's injury was a big blow to the Tigers.

The crowd got after Schmidt for bunting in the second. Two men wore on the sacks at the time, and two out. At that Delehanty would have scored from third had the big German legged it to first last enough.

Bill Donovan's smile ever off when he saw his floaters fading away from the plate.

A groan went up from the Pirate fans in the stands when Abstein crowded Miller off third in the third inning. Then Big Bill hiked back to second and was an easy out.

The Tigers persisted in their bunting tactics. It was hopeless with a man like Hack Gibson doing the back-stopping.

SATURDAY EVENING, OCT. 16, 1909.

THE COKE REGION'S
COAL VEINS AND ITS LIFE.

We note the development of an interesting but not unexpected question in the Conneltsville coke region concerning mining rights and conditions. For many years past it has been the common custom of promoters to discover other tracts of coking coal "as good as Conneltsville," and some of the more enthusiastic not to any enterprising members of this large Discovery Club have claimed that their particular finds were even better than Conneltsville coal.

Simultaneously with these discoveries, the leaders have announced with more or less persistence and positiveness, and have backed their predictions by figures more or less capable of lying, that the life of the Conneltsville region was limited to a few brief years; that decadence had already set in; that the subject was tottering and feeble; that the funeral had better be arranged and a successor appointed to the Kingdom of Coke; and, indeed, the only thing which has prevented the selection of this successor has been the conflicting claims of other regions.

But the Conneltsville region has many years yet to live measured by its single coal seam known as the Conneltsville coking coal, and it has many more years of life as a coal and coke producing section after all the Conneltsville coal is exhausted, because it has other coal veins. It has, for example, the Sewickley vein above and the Freeport vein beneath, all of which make excellent coke; in fact, coke is even now being made from them right in the Conneltsville region; and that is where the trouble comes in.

The Sewickley vein lies very near the surface and is often difficult to operate on that account. It also lies comparatively close to the Conneltsville seam and the operation of both at the same time especially by different operators is probably attended by grave danger as is claimed. If so the relative rights of the owners are involved in a knotty tangle, and the sooner the courts lay down a rule of law the better it will be for all concerned.

THE FARMERS' FIGHT
AGAINST THE HUNTERS.

The annual conflict between the hunters and the farmers began promptly upon the opening of the hunting season yesterday and the fight promises to be hotter than ever. There has been an unusual demand for trespass notices and a notable activity among farmers in organizing small and compact organizations for the poisoning of their property.

Like most others, this question has two sides to it, and they have already been discussed at length in these columns. On one side is the common courtesy which will not object to the average hunter walking over and shooting over the ordinary farm lands if he does so with due regard to the rights of the owner; on the other, is the fact that many hunters ignore this right and recklessly or wantonly damage the crops, the fences and the growing timber, and often start destructive fires.

There is a further and more serious objection advanced by the farmers, namely, the disposition of some hunters to shoot all the live stock in sight, including the farmer himself. The last objection is overwhelming, and any farmer who has reason to fear such an untimely fate is fully justified in posting his land with cannon as well as with traps and notices.

Hunters will either have to shoot better and with greater discrimination, or they will have to be barred from private property altogether. Perhaps it would be just as well if they were barred, since in that event sportsmen would form clubs for the purchase and maintenance of large game preserves which would help materially in the good work of forest conservation, which means better rainfalls and better crops for the farmer, and better water supplies for the urban population.

CONNELLSVILLE
REMAINS THE CENTER.

The announcement that the West Penn system is about to build a new line between Conneltsville and Uniontown via the Leisenburgs and other intervening coke villages shows a just appreciation of the possibilities of trolley traffic in the Conneltsville coke region, a proposition which only a few years since was approached by farseeing capitalists with a caution amounting to timidity.

Uniontown has been in a fever of excitement for some time past over a proposed loop through the town, but the construction of the Leisenburg line will complete two great loops in the whole system with Conneltsville as their center. We already have two routes to Greensburg and we are promised two to Uniontown.

In spite of all the blustering and blowing of other localities, Conneltsville remains firmly fixed as the center of the coke region which bears its name to the uttermost ends of the earth and which will never be known by any other appellation.

A MATTER OF BUSINESS
AS WELL AS HUMANITY.

The modern practice of railroad construction follows the English plan and avoids grade crossings. The initial cost of construction under this plan is greater, but the ultimate results are much more efficient and economical, not to mention the humane feature of the proposition.

In the line of efficiency we have greater speed, which in itself means greater economy in operation. Successful modern railway management depends largely on the cost per ton per mile in operating. Then there is the other and extensive extraordinary expense which applies from damage suits resulting from grade-crossing accidents. This expense is the price of blood. There is no rule by which it can be estimated. It hangs like a threat over many a promising surplus ready to wash it away in a red deluge.

Hence railway managers have concluded that it is safer and better business to eliminate as far as possible, even at liberal cost, the grade-crossing which not only threatens the lives of the people but likewise the earnings of the railway companies.

There may have been significance in the fact that the dinner contemplated the same number of plates as looms in the proposed silk mill, but there will be a greater significance in the meeting if behind every one of those plates sits a business man or property-owner of Conneltsville.

The agony of the baseball fans will be over this afternoon and the whole world will breathe a sigh of relief. There will be other signs, too; signs of satisfaction from those who won their bets, and signs of despair from those who lost; signs of sorrow from those fascinated by the Great American Game, because the season will have closed, and signs of impatience from those who are waiting for the football season to begin. The football season, in which the very heavens seem to join, we will hope that the future will bring an Indian Summer of joyous if fleeting content before Winter freezes up most outdoor athletics.

Presidents Diaz and Taft meet today in the Bad Lands of Mexico, and it behooves each of them to keep his hand on his gun.

The pickpocket who tackled a Vassar girl and was pummeled thoroughly while being held for the police "got in bad." He didn't know that some of the Vassar girls are fullbacks and most of them at least halfbacks.

Explorer Cook has been temperate about the North Pole, but he is not so disposed to go after the guide who says he didn't climb to the top of Mount McKinley before he gained the top of the world. It's up to Doctor Cook to get his coat off and get busy in his own defense. A man who does the strenuous things he claims to have done should be strenuous in his own defense when attacked by others. Besides, the people like a fighter.

Judge Gary is being feted by the independent steel interests. Is it possible that the new Steel Merger is stirring with the old?

Are the invaders getting reckless or confident? That possibly depends upon whether they escape with their lives or not. If they are killed, we must assume that they were reckless; if they escape, it is proof of their confidence in themselves and their machines.

Uniontown is preparing to loop-the-loop.

There are lots of Conneltsville mothers who are willing to swear that no beauty show in the world ever compared with Dunn's baby show yesterday, and we are inclined to believe them. Did not the Commissioner One say: "Such a picture as to me for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

The State Sabbath School Association clings to President Hoins of the 37-varieties probably because he is the Sweet Pickle of the lot.

Squaw Winter hangs on.

There is a determined disposition to prove to the Conneltsville school directors that Kentucky coal is quite as fine as those other Kentucky products, women, whisky and horses.

Greene county railroad plans multiply.

The theatrical season is on in earnest in Conneltsville. The attractions grow more attractive as business grows better.

West Newton is convinced that the deadly cigarette is dangerous to the safety of its young persons.

The Spanish throne is said to be shaky. All monarchies are shaky in this age of representative government. Alfonso had better resign as King and run for President. Diaz can give him some pointers.

We fear there is too much class in our public schools.

Greene county coal deals are getting brisk, and the singular part of it is that most of the purchases are made by local capitalists. The development of the field will not take place until the advent of the hands of the coal-mining development but the activity of the market betrays an unbounded confidence in the future of such investment.

Colombia is having a revolutionary diversion. Things were probably getting dull down that way.

Until the North Pole row is finally settled, the Explorers' Club promises to find out about that Mt. McKinley ascension.

HUNTING SEASON AT SCOTSDALE.

Farmers Say They Are in Danger of Their Lives
Now.

THE Y. M. C. A. CLASSES OPEN

Joe Baird Gets on Road With His Engine—Constable Brown Says He Will Vindicate Recent Action—Other News of Mill Town.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 16.—The opening of the hunting season yesterday caused an exodus of sportsmen and near sportsmen to the country, both that surrounding town and hunting grounds at a distance. While it is a season of pleasure for the owners of guns the farmers who came to town yesterday and today report that the trespassing on farms pointed with noxious is about as bad as ever, and that everyone who goes into the fields to perform the ordinary work of agriculture is in danger of being shot at by careless hunters, who blaze around indiscriminately.

More than that they charge that although the reason is not open there is a good deal more rabbit hunting being done than there is anything else. The dogs are chasing rabbits, and the latter's don't bodes and skins have been found on several farms. If this be the case this locality is a fit subject for investigation upon the part of a game warden.

Y. M. C. A. Classes Open.

The Young Men's Christian Association opened their winter season of study last evening, with a good start on the various studies which are being taught here. This adjunct to the association has been promoted with good success in Scottdale for a number of years, and the start of evening study is the studiously inclined have been apparent. With capable teachers and earnest students the Y. M. C. A. classes have been making a mark in practical education. In the contest for members the shop and mill men are shown on the banners to have 37 points to the Business and Professional Men's 2.

Looking After Coal Lands.

It is reported that W. J. Segar and his brothers have been about Ruffdale several days this week investigating coal prospects and looking up the opportunities for development in that section. It is said that their attention is being given to the Freepoint coal and that they consider developing this vein.

Football This Afternoon.

The Scottdale Scholastic team, rejoining in a long string of victories are pitted this afternoon against the Connelleville Scholastics at Loucks Park at 3:30. The High School team is booked for Greensburg to play a preliminary game there with the High School second team, before the Greensburg High School goes up against the W. & J. Academy team.

On the Road Again.

Joseph Baird of near Chatsworth passed through here with his threshing machine engine drawing the hay baler, and will put the latter to work among the hay crops of some of the farmers west of town. The engine is the one that fell through the bridge at Morgan station as the Bairds were coming down from Dry Hill some days ago. The engine is the second one that Baird has had fall through a bridge, his first one being a victim of a rotten bridge at Chatsworth a couple of years ago.

Pay Day Once More.

This is pay day for the Scottdale plant and the Old Meadow plant of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company and several other plants here and a large bunch of money will enter into circulation today. This is weather that the shoe and clothing men welcome heartily as it will be good business for them.

Rushing the Work.

The contractors are rushing the work of building the new laundry on Broadway and the concrete flooring is being put down now. The building being a very large one extending clear back to the alley and the full front of the lot.

Will Vindicate Himself.

Constable Adam Brown of Emerson borough claims that he was made the victim of spite in being haled before Justice of the Peace J. C. Brownfield through charges made by Cora Carshira, a pretty 18 year old girl, whom he arrested. Brown says through a friend that he arrested the girl at two o'clock in the morning and that she could not give any good account of her actions, so he placed her in the lockup. Constable Brown says that at the proper time he will make a complete vindication of his action. He also deplores the fact that many people assumed that his commitment meant that he went to jail. The Court stated that he was committed, but that he secured bail. Brown was not placed in jail.

Baby Day at the E. Dunn Stores Attracted Array of Dimpled Tots.

Yesterday was Baby Day at E. Dunn's stores. To know that it was a success one only needed to take a peep into the big carpet room on the second floor where scores upon scores of household prodigies were gathered for the reception. There were baby boys and baby girls. And all of them were dainty and sweet and full of fun and the pranks of toddlers.

One year ago Baby Day in Connelleville was inaugurated by Captain E. Dunn. While the first one was a success that of yesterday put it far in the shade. Shortly before 2 o'clock mothers and their babies, some with one and some with two, began arriving at the store. Over 500 babies, ranging in age from five weeks to three years, were present. Then lots of little tots, five and six years old, but recently deprived of the privilege of extended baby at home by a new order in the family, heard of the reception and stayed in unaccompanied.

Fond mothers, since receiving the invitations, looked forward to the occasion with great interest and spent many pleasant hours in preparing their babies' outfits for the reception. Sturdy little fellows and dainty dimpled baby girls attired in pretty lace trimmed frocks vied for honors. It would have been impossible to have chosen the prettiest baby. Connelleville should feel proud of its little ones, as it can be safe in saying that the gathering at Dunn's yesterday could not be equalled for beauty in any of the surrounding towns.

The entire carpet room was thrown over for the babies and nothing was left undone by the firm and employees toward looking after the comfort of the little guests.

Captain E. Dunn deserves congratulations as an entertainer for the babies. Upon their arrival each baby girl was given a pretty doll. The boys had a rubber ball or a tin drum and immediately proceeded to bounce them off the downy heads of the girls. The mothers were presented with pink and white carnations. The large room was filled with babies and the hubbly of their baby talk intelligible only to fond mothers. During the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock several hundred ladies hearing of the reception

ROAD TO YESTERDAY OPENS THE COLONIAL

Weak Cast Presents Clever Play as
First Offering at the Shubert House.

"The Road to Yesterday" has come and gone. It left behind no loud acclaim for a return date. Not since "Spangles" visited the Colonial about five years ago, has such a chilling theatrical disappointment struck town as the opening attraction for the Colonial. In justice to Manager John N. Ruth the statement is due that he accepted the looking in good faith as a first class attraction. The company was not what it was represented to him. No manager can know every show he books, but this one came highly recommended, and the management acted in good faith in placing it here to open the house. "The Road to Yesterday" was presented by the company at the Colonial last night had scarcely a feature worth commendation, except the stage settings. The players were unfamiliar with their lines and all the talent straying within the cast could ordinarily be found in a play of less pretensions. The only redeeming feature of the play was the work of Miss Florence Raelinoff, a Russian actress who is being schooled in the American drama. With that cast she is in it looks as though the schooling will be done by her.

The Colonial presented a bright, new appearance, and will live down the unfortunate incident of landing a bad show for the opener. The Shuberts have good attractions and will send them here.

The gallery gods reigned supreme between acts. Their noise and clatter was beyond bounds of reason.

The audience was small, but this was perhaps fortunate in view of the mediocre attraction. But, as one spectator remarked, it must have been a mighty good company that kept "The Road to Yesterday" on Broadway for a while season. The company opens in Louisville, Ky., for a week, beginning Sunday night. The towns between here and Louisville need not feel slighted because the show passes them by.

GRADE CROSSINGS

To Be Eliminated as Rapidly as Possible by P. R. R.

In furtherance of its policy of invariably avoiding grade crossings in all new and revised construction work, and of eliminating as rapidly as possible such crossings as are considered dangerous, the Pennsylvania railroad, in making improvements on its main line between Altoona and Pittsburgh, will eliminate six crossings at highways over which there is heavy travel. Work to be done at Greensburg, includes the removal of a tunnel, a change of grade, and the elimination of one grade crossing. In view of the large number of employees of the Cambria Steel Company who use the Station street grade crossing at Johnstown, an overhead bridge is to be constructed at that point and an underground tunnel for pedestrians will be built just west of the passenger station.

Between Johnstown and Altoona, a distance of 77.1 miles, there will remain but three important grade crossings, and preparations are being made for the abolition of one of these. Since 1st, 1902, approximately seven and one-half years ago, 41 grade crossings have been eliminated on the Pittsburgh division. With the completion of the work now authorized there will have been removed 50 crossings at grade, leaving but 76 on the main passenger line between Pittsburgh and Altoona.

COKE REGION IS PREPARED

To Supply All the Fuel That Furnaces May Require.

NOW IN ADVANCE OF FURNACES

Compared to Consumption There Appears to Be No Need for Fear as the Output Can Be Quickly Increased—The Price the Question.

Much discussion has taken place recently over the available coke supply of the Connellsville coke region, but for all demands it appears that it is sufficient. Taking all the available ovens numbering 38,559, which include some ovens not now nor for some time in use at the rate of 13 tons per week as their ability to produce we have over 600,000 tons of coke to our credit.

The best year in the coke trade noted over 22,000,000 tons and much of that time was a boom time. Not taking it on a steady weekly basis with the above number of ovens in blast well on to 27,000,000 tons could be produced.

Going further into the analysis of figures with a possible production of, say over 25,000,000 tons, which is borne out by an already record tonnage of over 22,000,000 tons, it is possible with the ovens at hand and in construction to produce over 30,000,000 tons of coke per year. The question seems to devolve solely upon the consumers of coke whether there is a sufficient number of ovens or not.

Coke operators, generally, are in a position to add to their supply of ovens quickly and especially the large operators with large acreages. It must be borne in mind, too, that several big developments are planned. For instance the Isabella-Connellsville Coke Company, a $7,000,000 corporation is preparing to develop a large acreage. The Tower Hill Connellsville Coke Company and the Thompson-Connellsville Coke Company, forming a great mutual interest in the future to keep up with the trend of business.

The Lower Connellsville coke region is now filled with a great acreage and development on a large scale could easily be made. The question really is to the furnaces need a greater or protective supply than they have at the present time?

Shrewd operators are not making a mad effort to work out their coal in order that the furnaces may get an over abundant supply. With a limited oven capacity a limited tonnage may be produced, but if the coal is not taken out it is always a safe proposition as it will remain valuable. The taxes and interest on the property may amount to a considerable sum, but such year as has been the history of the Connellsville vein of coke coal, it has increased in value.

The needs of the furnaces are being supplied right regularly, the only element that enters into the question is whether the consumer is willing to pay the price demanded by the manufacturer. If he is he will get his supply of coke.

Operators are more careful now than they used to be. They are jealous of their coal and do not like to see it go to less than the high market price. One prominent operator speaking of the situation, pertinently remarked: "Coke should be worth all of $1 a ton all the time. Take the land valuations, the taxes, the increased cost of operation and the chances that an operator runs and there is no reason why with a practically cornered market in a world wide known product a handsome profit should not be made. Coke can't be made any more for a $1. When it is less than $3 it is a sacrifice to sell it. I don't think that there is any possibility of the furnaces running out of coke, provided they pay the price, but we have gotten together a little better and we are prepared to hold out a little more strongly for what we really want in the way of a price for our coke."

RAILROADS ARE BUYING

Conspicuous Development in Iron and Steel Trade.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dun's Review of Trade says today:

"Renewed buying of rolling stock by the railroads is the conspicuous development of the week in the iron and steel trade. Reports indicate that orders are being placed with some urgency and that considerable new business is under negotiation. Activity at steel works is reflected in prices are announced. One contract for 20,000 tons of Bessemer at $13 is reported. The structural shops are receiving a moderate amount of new business.

"Trade in drygoods shows steady gain and the higher prices in the primary markets, forced by the sustained high cost of raw materials, are now quite freely paid."

VIVIANOS ARE FOUND

Kidnaped Children Discovered in North Side of Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Two Italian children, identified from photographs as Tommaso and Grace Viviano, who were kidnaped from St. Louis Aug. 1 last, and who have been sought since by the police of many cities, were found wandering aimlessly on the north side of the city by Detective Stephen Parodi of the Chicago Avenue police station.

The children when found were sitting on a curbstone at North Halsted and Rees streets. Both were weeping, the little girl, who is less than four years old, sobbing bitterly, and Tommaso, her cousin, who is seven years old, trying to comfort her. Detective Parodi took the children in his arms and asked them where they lived. Tommaso said that he did not know. Remembering the Viviano case he asked Tommaso if his name was Viviano. The boy nodded his head as if to confirm his identity. The detective hurried with the children to the Chicago Avenue police station. Photographs of the missing St. Louis children were immediately procured from the central detective bureau and Inspector O'Brien was convinced on comparing them with the homeless foundlings that they were the long-sought victims of the St. Louis kidnaping which had taxed the ingenuity of the detectives in many cities for weeks.

Hears That Ransom Was Paid. St. Louis, Oct. 15.—Night Chief of Police Gillaspay said he received information that the Vivianos paid about $2,700 as a ransom recently. The money, according to Chief Gillaspay's authority, was paid in two installments, part of it to a woman confederate in St. Louis county and the remainder in an Illinois town.

HOLDS PICKPOCKET.

Vassar Graduate Holds Thief and Turns Him Over to Officer.

New York, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Alice Whitney, the young and pretty wife of Richard Whitney, an officer of the Adams Express company, captured a pickpocket in a Sixth avenue department store, pummeled his face, blackened both his eyes and held him until the store detective, Daniel Cash, placed him under arrest. The pickpocket proved to be George Harris, alias George Goodwin, with a prison record.

Mrs. Whitney is a graduate of Vassar and played on the Vassar basketball team. She came to Manhattan to do some shopping. On her arm she carried a chateaufort bag in which was a purse containing about $20. Mrs. Whitney entered an elevator in a department store, and as she was leaving the car on the fourth floor a slim young man jostled her. About a year ago she was robbed of $30 in a department store and the action of the young man made her suspicious. She looked down and found that the bag was open and the purse was missing, but by that time she was out of the elevator and the car was on the way to the fifth floor.

Mrs. Whitney hurried up the stairway and reached the fifth floor just in time to see the young man dodge into another elevator. Crying to the operator of the car to wait, Mrs. Whitney dashed in and grabbed the pickpocket. The young man fought back, but he was no match for the young matron. The elevator boy closed the door and dropped the car to the ground floor, where he set up a cry for the store detective. When Cash reached the scene the pickpocket had succeeded in dragging Mrs. Whitney from the car, but she had a good grip on him and he was unable to get away or strike her.

SIR THOMAS SAILS

Very Anxious to Arrange Yacht Race for America's Cup.

London, Oct. 16.—Sir Thomas Lipton, who sailed for New York today on the steamer Cedric, talked rather more encouragingly of his prospect of securing another race for the America's cup.

"I am going to New York," he said, "in the hope of arranging another race. I realize that there are many difficulties in the way, but am confident that they can be overcome because I know that the New York Yacht club is composed of good sportsmen who, rather than have the race discontinue, will, I feel sure, do their utmost to meet me."

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatic pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Pappe's Diuretic

HOSPITAL FOR FOREIGN WOMEN.

Superintendents and Doctors Endeavor to Save Babies.

LIVES LOST BY IGNORANCE

Children They Say Come Into the World and Take Their Own Chances—Although Mothers Are Loving, Proper Care Is Lacking.

One of the important topics in the coke region the past few weeks has been that of caring for the children that come into the world on American soil. It is a notorious fact that the birth rate among foreigners is extremely high, while the mortality is appalling.

Lack of care and ignorance are said to be the causes of so many deaths of infants. The little ones come most regularly and the doctors do all in their power to care for them, but frequently there is no family provision.

Since the new health laws and regulations were laid down by Connellsville of Health Dixon it has just been possible to learn of the large number of infants that die monthly at the coke works. The system is not in perfect working order, but it has brought the doctors and the superintendents to a realization of what is going on.

One physician who is well known in the coke district, is advocating a maternity hospital. He believes that if it were possible to have some central point where it would be easy of access to send the women in time of their troubles many lives annually would be saved. "It is possible," he says, "to treat them properly when the child arrives, but it is not possible for the doctor to remain with them until all danger is over. A child needs its greatest care at its birth. We leave the house and for weeks the woman is unattended as well as the child. What we most need is some place where mother and child can get proper care and attention until both are out of danger. These foreign children are naturally strong, but it is only a question whether they live or die under the conditions that they come into this world. No better or more charitable institution could be instituted in the Connellsville coke region than a hospital to care for women and these little newcomers."

"Why some of these people don't know what to do," said a superintendent when asked about the situation. "We try to do the best we can for them, but there are many things that could be provided. If you go around through the company houses you will see many babies feeding upon sour milk. Their mothers don't know any better. They do not know anything about ice, nor do many of them know how to care for a baby. I bet you that you will find a little tacker less than a year old doing for himself, the mother in the wash tub or cooking in the back yard. She is even ill yet, while the baby is growing weaker every day."

"Every company, almost, has its own special doctor, and there are complaints about the price paid monthly, but the physician at a small coke works, even is kept constantly busy, and the most of his business is confined to treatment of children. He gives the medicine but the natural care is lacking, many of the foreign mothers being ignorant of what is necessary. The lack of good, pure, wholesome milk is another cause for many children becoming sick and eventually dying."

Fight Dispute Settled.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—The disputing rumor that today's championship fight between Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel might be declared off because of a dispute about the $5,000 bid agitated the pugilist world, but the official announcement of Promoter J. W. Coffroth that he had taken possession of the $10,000 stake by the two principals has allayed all fears.

The Fall lines of Underwear for men, women and children are now all in. They have been purchased from the best manufacturers in America. The stocks of this class of goods taken out of our sixty-three stores and put in one pile would look almost as big as Pine Knob, would make a big double-header train. Connellsville People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously. Nature always warns you. Notice the kidney secretion, for 1-13. See if the color is unhealthy.

If there are settlements and sediment, passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes. Doan's have done great work in this locality.

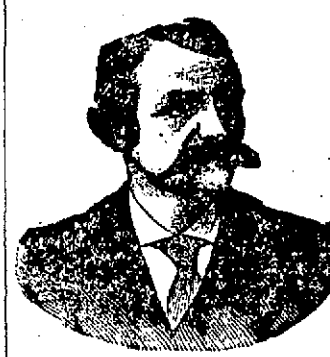

Amos Beard, 630 Oakland Avenue, Greensburg, Pa., says: "I have known of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills for two years and can recommend them as a most reliable remedy."

I had been subject to attacks of acute lameness across my loins for a long time. I also had a dull ache in the small of my back which was very depressing and robbed me of my ambition. My kidneys were disordered and this fact was made apparent by the unnatural condition of the secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills regulated the kidney secretions, banished the backaches and dull headaches and gave the most positive relief."

Johnson the Favorite Over Ketchell In Big Fight at Colma This Afternoon.

Special to The Courier.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Which smile will be the one to come off Ketchell or Johnson?

With Ketchell, challenger for the heavy-weight championship of the world, and Jack Johnson, black holder of the much-coveted title, ready for the going at Colma this afternoon that will send the little white man and the giant negro away on their scheduled 20-round bout, the fight fans are figuring on the respective chances of the pair.

At first blush, Johnson looks so overwhelmingly the better of the two that the dyed-in-the-wool fans involuntarily exclaim: "Ketchell hasn't the slightest chance in the world. It's a shame to let a fellow his size fight that big smoke." And then the very compassion that moves them to express words of pity for the Assassin compels them to seek the dope for one straw, for one bit of Ivy on which to hang the hope that the white boy will not be killed outright.

Al! Here we have it! Philadelphia Jack O'Brien almost broke even with Johnson in six rounds. Stanley Ketchell came along and flattened the Confessor in three rounds. Now, then! It resolves itself into a simple example in arithmetic. If Johnson fails to stop O'Brien in six rounds and Ketchell topples over the same man in less than half that time, why shouldn't Ketchell have a mighty good chance with Johnson in 20 rounds, and, perhaps, beat him? Yes, why shouldn't he? Ask yourself that question three times and see if you can get the answer.

Here it is! When Johnson fought O'Brien he didn't slip over the knuckle because he wouldn't if he could have and couldn't if he would have. Sounds a bit complex, but it's right. In the first place, Johnson was hog fat, champagne had cut his speed, he had no training, and didn't care. In the second place, he wasn't going to show everything he knew, because he had made up his mind not to tip the nit for the benefit of Jim Seftles. He fought as he fought against Kaufman, under wraps. In both fights he employed only his famous right upper cut and a straight left jab. Not once did he try a punch that carried the knockout. So any judge of boxing who saw either one of the black's two most important fights since his return from Australia will tell you that he has something good in reserve—something that is as good as Paupke gave Ketchell when he knocked him out, and not even the most morbid paragon of the sensational Michigan fighter will contend that Paupke is one-half the fighter that Johnson is. Johnson is taller, stronger, heavier than Ketchell. He is fully as fast on his feet, his harder, is a far better boxer than Ketchell, and as a defensive fighter is without a peer. Where, then, can Ketchell have it on him? In gameness, 99 out of 100, bugs will tell you.

"Johnson has a yellow streak a yard wide," is what they all say. Even Johnson himself isn't sure that he hasn't a yellow streak.

While "feinting" with a number of sports in New York last spring Jim Coffroth, who was then dicker for the Johnson-Ketchell match, took Johnson off his feet by suddenly asking: "Jack, do you think you are game?"

For a moment Johnson was stunned. When he recovered from his astonishment he grinned a sheepish grin, and said: "I don't know, Mr. Coffroth."

Again, while fighting Kaufman, one of the spectators, the champion's corner shouted between the rounds: "You've got a yellow streak, Jack!"

Quickly turning to the man who had hurled the taunt, but without the least display of anger, Johnson, shot back: "Yes, maybe I have, but none of these big fellows seem to be able to locate it."

If Ketchell can locate it, fine for the white boy. Just can go back to the alfalfa ranch and stay there, but Ketchell is going to have an awful time doing the Columbus. In fact, while he is endeavoring to nail the flag of the white race to Johnson's yellow streak he is more likely to take a Brodie to the mat.

Ketchell's plan of battle, it is stated, is to waste in and tear Johnson's hemlock to pieces, which is to say that the negro's kitchen will be his main point of attack. He can't reach that bobbing black head, and even if he could he would hurt himself more than he would his opponent. So naturally he must go after the stomach.

He succeeds in landing a couple of his terrible drives, he will make the black awfully sick and perhaps finish him. Perhaps.

In the meantime, it must be borne in mind that Johnson holds his stomach in high regard, especially when threatened by a flat, and that his gorilla-like arms are as good as a sheet of Harveyized steel armor plate. Again, which will be the one to come off—the Johnson ape-like grin or the cruel smile of the Assassin? The betting ought to be about it to that Johnson will be smiling at the finish.

STORM CLAIMED MANY VICTIMS.

The Death List in Southern States Reaches High Mark.

ENTIRE TOWNS ARE DESTROYED

Have and Destruction in Path of Storm Which Swept Large Part of Southern States—Denmark, Tenn., Totally Destroyed.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16.—With the known death list already reaching a total of thirty-seven and with thirteen others reported dead, with scores seriously injured and many others painfully bruised and scorched, and with the property damage running to a million dollars or more, the havoc and destruction of the storm which swept middle and west Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and portion of Arkansas and South Carolina grows hourly as reports are received from remote points and as wire communications gradually resumed to a normal condition.

The storm was the worst that has visited this section of the south in years. Half of counties were laid waste, towns were destroyed, plantations were greatly damaged and from all sections of the storm-swept area come reports of loss of life.

Apparently the storm broke over middle and west Tennessee and proceeded in a southeasterly direction across the state into Alabama and Georgia. It came practically without warning and in some places it is reported that the wind attained a velocity of ninety miles an hour.

While only one death occurred at Denmark, Tenn., the horrors of the storm there were greatly heightened by the fire which started amid the ruins and debris of what was once a flourishing little town in middle Tennessee. The flames unquenched by the heavy downpour of rain and hail rapidly consumed what few dwellings and storehouses were left standing and today a scene of desolation is presented. Two hundred persons were rendered homeless.

Reports of five deaths and heavy damage come from McNairy county, where is located the famous battle field of Shiloh, and which was directly in the path of the storm. Homes and stores were leveled to the ground and great trees in the historic national cemetery were uprooted.

Many handsome and imposing statues in the national park were torn from the pedestals and property damage estimated at $100,000. It is impossible to confirm the report that thirteen lives have been lost at Stansenville.

FRAUD ORDER ISSUED

"Western Specialty Company" Under Ban of Postoffice Department.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Suggestions as to how to make money by embezzling have got the "Western Specialty company" of Bloomington, Ill., into trouble. The postoffice department has issued a so-called "fraud order" against the Western Specialty company, denying it the use of the mails.

The company advertised that it wanted, at once, "ladies to copy letters at home; can earn $10 to $20 per week. Send ten cents for particulars." Correspondents who sent ten cents received a circular asking for an additional fifty cents for "complete instructions, plan of work, packing, mailing, etc." Instead of obtaining employment as copyists the correspondents received a stamped pillow top with directions for embroidering it, and were advised that a commission of twenty-five cents would be paid for every order obtained for the purchase of a pillow top with instructions how to embroider.

CUTS UP IN HIS AEROPLANE.

Willbur Wright Lets Flying Machine Go Afloat Without Guiding It.

College Park, Md., Oct. 15.—Willbur Wright, who, with his brother Orville, used to manufacture bicycles out in Dayton, O., a few years ago, showed his early training at College Park and "took his hands off the handlebars" on the $30,000 biplane which belongs to the United States, letting it fly along for hundreds of yards at a forty-mile-an-hour clip.

Mr. Wright didn't perform this trick once, but several times, and he not only took his hands away from their customary position about the control levers, but he waved them in the air at the spectators below while the 1,000-pound machine whizzed by entirely unguided.

CURED IN ONE MONTH
BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am seventy-seven years old and one day, some years ago, I fell from a step-ladder, bruising my head. In a few days I could not walk, and I was called in a doctor and inside of a week erysipelas set in. The doctor had not cured me of that when I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered I cannot tell. I could not sleep at night because of that dreadful itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation; it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make me worse and I was almost out of my mind. I read of Cuticura and sent word to the druggist, who was a member of my lodge of Odd Fellows, for a set of the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Remedies. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first solid night's sleep I had for six months. I was not afraid to use plenty of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap with hot water and in a week's time I was able to put on my clothes again. In a month I was cured. From that day to this I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too highly. I may add that I have a very heavy head of hair which I owe to Cuticura. H. F. D. 2, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1908.

A single set of the Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient for the treatment of the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning and scaly humors, eczema, rashes and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail. Guaranteed to cure. Cuticura Soap (25c), Ointment (50c). Resellers everywhere. Free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment sent on request to The Cuticura Remedies Co., P.O. Box 108, New York, N. Y.

COOK MEANS TO REFUTE CHARGES.

Expedition Is Planned to Ascend Mount McKinley.

Kinley.

SAYS THE RECORDS ARE THERE

Intimates That Money Had Something To Do With Barrill's Affidavit.

Anthony Flala and Professor Parker Invited to Lead Expedition.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, refuting the charges that he had not ascended Mount McKinley in Alaska in 1906, came out with a statement in New York last night after a three-hour conference with his attorney, intimating that Edward N. Barrill, the guide who accompanied him, had perjured himself in his recent affidavit for a consideration offered by his detractors.

The statement in part is as follows:

"Upon my return from Atlantic City I conferred with a confidential agent whom I had sent to Montana to investigate stories which had reached me in Kansas City to the effect that strong inducements had been offered Edward N. Barrill, the guide who accompanied me to the summit of Mount McKinley in the summer of 1906. This confidential agent has returned from Montana and for good reasons I do not care at the present time to make his name public.

"After a thorough investigation there he reports to me that an offer of a considerable sum of money was made to Mr. Barrill on the condition that he prepare and sign an affidavit which would be calculated to discredit my claim that I succeeded in scaling the Alaska peak. This offer, so my representative informs me, was made to Mr. Barrill in the presence of C. G. Bridgford, a reputable citizen of Hamilton, Mont., who is associated with Mr. Barrill in the real estate business. Barrill at that time, according to the statement of Mr. Bridgford to my representative, declined to make such an affidavit and informed the men who had requested him to swear that I did not reach the top of Mount McKinley that to make such an affidavit he would have to 'commit perjury and sell his own soul.'

"I have forwarded a telegram to Anthony Flala asking him to head an expedition to Mount McKinley to bring back my records. Another telegram has been sent to Professor Herschell C. Parker of Columbia university, who accompanied me in the early stages of my last Mount McKinley expedition, asking him to join Flala on this expedition.

"Mr. Flala and Professor Parker no doubt will invite a number of expert mountain climbers to accompany them on the expedition. The result of their efforts will not at once forever any doubt that may exist as to whether Barrill and myself reached the top-most summit and deposited there records as described in my book 'To the Top of the Continent.'
